ALL STAR TEAM WILL PLAY AT BIDDEFORD

The Portsmouth, N. H., team, made up of star ball players in the service of Uncle Sam and located at the navy yard, will be the opponents of the Diamond Match team at Prospect park, next Saturday afternoon. According to Biddeford men working at the Portsmouth navy yard, the manager of the Diamond Match outfit has secured a classy aggregation of ball players to tackle his team. This is just what the manager wants, the better the visiting team the better he likes it, so as to make his boys go the limit, and above all give the fans their money's worth.—Biddeford Journal.

LITTLE INTEREST IN MAINE PRIMARIES

Portland, June 18.—Absence of contests for the nominations for United States senator, representatives to Congress, governor and state auditor, the offices filled by direct vote of the people, and lack of interest in politics resulted in a very light vote being cast at the Republican and Democratic state primaries on Monday.

The only interest manifested was in nominations for sheriff in Androscoggin, Arundel, Cumberland, Kennebec and Penobscot counties and other county officials and in legislative contests in some districts.
The Republicans renominated U. S. Senator Bert M. Fernald, Gov. Carl F. Milliken, State Auditor Roy L. Wardwell and Congressman Louis B. Goodall of Sanford, Wallace H. White Jr., Lewiston; John A. Peters, Ellsworth and Ira G. Hersey, Houlton.
The Democrats nominated Elmer E. Newbert of Augusta for senator, Bertrand G. McIntire of Waterford for Governor, Charles R. Day of Richmond for auditor, and Lucius B. Sweet of Sanford, former Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy, Lewiston, Edward Chase, Barre, and Leon G. C. Brown, Milo, for Congressmen.

The Socialist and Prohibition parties do not participate in the primaries but present the names of their candidates by petition.

WRECKED AUTOMOBILE REPORTED STRIPPED

Headlights, Tires, Tools and Robe Said to Have Been Taken by Unknown Parties During Night.

It is said the wrecked car which ran into the automobile owned and driven by William McGinnis on Sunday afternoon on the state road near Ragged Neck, was stripped on Sunday night by unknown parties. The headlights were removed, tires taken from the wheels on one side and the extra tire at the back of the machine, also a kit of automobile tools and a robe.
The tires on one side which were in good condition were left on the machine and evidently parties were scared off perhaps by passing motorists while stripping the machine. The machine was not a valuable one and with its necessary equipment taken out left the wrecked car practically of little good except for the junk pile. The occupants of the car have not since been heard from and they evidently were picked up by a passing machine and taken in the direction of their destination.

LOCAL DOCTORS ARE ORDERED UP FOR EXAMINATION

CASE WENT TO JURY THIS AFTERNOON

The appealed case of State against Scanlon is still before Judge Allen in the Superior court today.
The evidence on both sides was concluded at noon and the arguments of the opposing attorneys were taken up after the noon recess. The case went to the jury shortly after three o'clock.

WE WISH WE HAD FISH HERE LIKE THESE.

Can it be that the hake and flounders that are crowding ashore on the beach at the mouth of the Saco river, so that the cottagers quickly fill their baskets, fishing with clam hoes, are trying to get away from the German submarine?—Boston Globe.

No, sir! Those are patriotic fishes, coming ashore to "feed the multitude" in these days of high prices and food conservation and perhaps incidentally make a dent in the bank accounts of those beef barons who have the gall to ask—and take—75 cents per pound for beef, as in the case in Maine.—George W. Baker, York Village, Me.

ENEMY U-BOAT IS REPORTED DESTROYED

Passengers on Steamship Claim An American Submarine Sank a German Submersible Off Virginia Coast

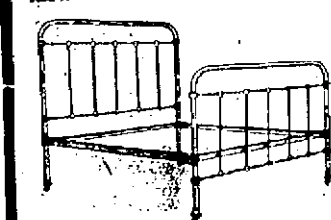

(By Associated Press)
An Atlantic Port, June 18.—A German submarine was destroyed by an American submarine off the Virginia coast several days ago according to the report brought here by passengers aboard an American steamship arriving here today.

The crew of the U-boat perished according to the report. Officers of the vessel claim to have been told the story of the combat by members of the crew.

American undersea craft.
Washington, June 18.—No word has reached the Navy Department of the destruction of an enemy U-boat by an American submarine as reported by the passengers of a steamship. The constant firing of patrol boats and armed merchantmen at any suspicious object on the water has given rise to many such rumors during the past of the combat by members of the crew.

ROCHESTER

Rochester, June 18.—There was a busk here at the Pellet's lot, near Place's crossing, Farmington road, Sunday afternoon and over one hundred cords of wood belonging to the Thayer, Osborne company of Farmington were destroyed.

Miss Bertha Marston, an occasional visitor at Cecil C. Shaw's, Walnut street, was united in marriage to Carl Bridgman, a Boston lawyer, at St. Paul's cathedral, Boston in the presence of many relatives and friends by Dean Roussseau.

The bride wore white veil and carried a prayer book. The best man was S. Walter Eldridge, brother of the groom, the maid of honor Miss Marie Bridgman, sister of the groom, and the bridesmaids were Miss Alice Marston, sister of the bride and Miss Arlys Shaw of this city. The bride is a stenographer in the office of Dean Hewitt, New Hampshire college.

Guy Sumner, baby, and Phyllis Evelyn Côté, both of this city, were united in marriage Saturday evening at the residence of Rev. Frank S. Hartley, pastor of True Memorial church, by Mr. Hartley. The double ring service was used and there were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb are employed at the Portsmouth navy yard. They will reside with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cobb on Silver street.

Freud Hamilton Davis, a well-known passenger engineer on the Portland and Rochester branch, died Sunday at his home on Winter street from kidney trouble, with which he had been afflicted for a long time, although until recently he attended to his duties on the railroad. He belonged to the Masonic fraternity, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Boston and Maine Hotel association. He is survived by a wife and three children, Miss Nellie Davis a school teacher at Bellows Falls, Vt.; Miss Miriam Davis, a telephone operator at Ayer, Mass.; and Fred N. Davis of Dover, also by a brother, Arthur N. Davis of Wesley, Mass. Mr. Davis was born and educated at Oxford, Mass., the son of John M. and Rosalind (Humphrey) Davis and was 61 years old.

The East Rochester Advent society has voted to appropriate several hundred dollars for the remodeling and dedicating of its church.

Barton Perkins, who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Paul P. Brown of Main street, has returned to the U. S. S. Oklahoma, where he is a member of the band.

Mrs. Ida Lowe of Deery, for many years a resident of this city, has been visiting friends in town.

Franklin H. Wenter, son of Rev. John Wenter, a former pastor of the Rochester Free Baptist church, is in the ordnance supply school at Camp Hancock, Ga. Franklin Wenter was for a time principal of the Nute high school, Milton.

Miss Doris Shapleigh has arrived home from Bates college to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Shapleigh of Abbott street, Weymouth.

Evangelist Lawrence H. Greenwood who not long ago conducted a series of meetings in the First Methodist church, expects to speak on Broadway, New York, every day for about three months this summer under the direction of the city mission.

Louis P. owns a life Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. Hender, son, aged 81 years. He was born in Farmington, the son of John H. and Mary (Robert) Downs, and is survived by a wife and several children.

Mrs. Mary Perkins of Wakefield street is recovering from an operation performed at the Maine General hospital, Portland, Me.

The Ladies Social union still continues its bi-weekly meetings Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist vestry for Reg. Gross work.

The executor of the estate of the late Marion Woodward has just given the Rochester public library a check for $100.

The city opera house was filled Sunday evening on the occasion of Rev. Frank S. Hartley delivering the baccalaureate sermon before the graduation class of the Rochester high school.

NOT SO EASY TO BE BAD

One Who Tries It May Come to Attach New Meaning to Biblical Injunction.

It is a popular fallacy that it is much easier to be bad than good. So firmly rooted is this error that it is universally accepted. H. Varley writes in Judge.

Yet it is very easy to demonstrate the absurdity of it. Imagine yourself, for a moment, having decided to be as bad as possible. Throw off all thought of civilization, of law, of caring for the opinions of others and of heeding the still, small voice within you.

Here you are, then, ready to be bad. Not just ordinarily, petty and limited to the nine degrees.

What shall you do? Murder? That's silly, for there is none you hate enough and if there was the fear of eventually sitting in a chair not upholstered for comfort but, for speed, densely padded with iron rods.

Rob a bank? However delightful the prospect, you can't tear open iron bars with your bare hands nor dig through granite with your fingernails.

Blow with your neighbor's wife? That is the most ridiculous of all, for you know your neighbor and that repulses any wish to endure, even for a moment, what he suffers indefinitely.

So, you stand, and mentally go through the whole category of badness without finding a single thing you can do without much more trouble than you could perform some good deed.

The worst you can picture yourself doing (that is feasible) is such a common peccadillo that you must despise it for its very triviality.

So you see the difficulty of being just a little bad—the utter impossibility of being really bad.

Then the Biblical injunction comes to you with an entirely new meaning: "The way of the transgressor is hard."

Monkeys actually at work

Ingenuous English Officer Devised Scheme by Which They Earned Their Daily Bread.

Monkeys actually are made to work in Malabar, India, which is perhaps the only place in the world where they earn their salt. The Malabar monkey is of the species known as the langur. It is very warm at Malabar, and there is a fan called the punka, which used to be kept in motion by a slave.

It required a slave to work each punka, but now every punka in Malabar is worked by a monkey. It was an English officer who conceived the idea of making the langur work in that manner. The fan is a movable frame covered with canvas and suspended from the ceiling. The motion is caused by pulling a cord. The officer tied the hands of a langur to one of the cords, and then by means of another cord put the machine in motion.

Of course, the monkey's hand went up and down, and the animal wondered what sort of a game was being played. Then the officer baited its hand and fed it with candy till soon the langur thought it was fun to work the punka. The experiment was successful, and now thousands of monkeys are in harness.

Who Built It?

Summing up his interpretation of the Amiens cathedral, the "Bible of Amiens," Thurkin asks:

"Who built it, shall we ask? God and man in their tourney built it, and the nations. Greek, Athens labors here, and the Roman Father Jove and Guardian Mars. The Gaul labors here and the Frank; kingly Normans, mighty Ostrogoth and wasted Abbot of Iduene. The actual man who built it scarcely cared to tell you he did so; nor do the historians brag of him. Any quantity of heralds of knaves and falsehoods you may find in what they call their history; but this is probably the first time you ever read the name of Robert of Luzarches. I say he scarcely cared; we are not sure that he cared at all. He signed his name nowhere, that I can hear of. You may perhaps find some recent initials cut by English remarkable visitors desirous of immortality, here and there about the edifice, but Robert the builder, or at least the master of that building, cut his on no stone of it."

Give "Overt" a Chance.

"Overt" is an adjective, has been applied by being looked up in some facile phrase, to a commonplace noun. For example, overt. Never in my life, writes H. L. Mencken in the New York Sun, have I encountered overt save in front of act. Thus joined and pigeonholed, it is mouthed shamelessly by lawyers and newspaper editorial writers; the literate fauna of a superior type avoid it almost altogether. And yet it is a fine adjective, a juicy adjective. An adjective worth knowing better. Why not overt honestly, overt destiny, overt love? I once had an overt black eye. Earlier in this life I made overt eyes at a girl overtly, and later, and remember her gleaming kiss every time the barber's brush slides across my face. Let us appoint a committee to get overt out of jail.

Another Husband.

"Why in the world does his wife call him 'Pickett' Pickett?"

"Well, she says he's easy to see through."

"And, then, he's very useful around the house."

Another Matter.

"How do you propose to support my daughter, young man?"

"But I'm only proposing to marry her, sir."

Ready-Made Meal Depots.

One of the latest labor-saving schemes in New York is the serving of cooked meals from a central station. These meals are cooked by experts and served piping hot, says a dispatch. They are ordered in advance and the prices range from 35 to 75 cents for lunch and from 35 cents to $1 for dinner. Under this arrangement a family can have its meals sent in all ready to serve, and accounts of the enterprise indicate that it is one that is likely to grow in popularity. One of the claimed benefits is that it "permits an overworked housewife to rest from the arduous duties of cooking, which in summer are vexatious in the extreme."

It is not, however, to be believed that this step is taken chiefly for the relief of overworked housewives. It is altogether more probable that it is supported by families whose housewives do not want the bother of cooking or doing much of anything else except to keep themselves looking pretty and in places where their attractiveness will be observed.

Modern life is bringing about many new and novel developments, and it may be that central stations for supplying ready-made meals to families who would avoid the work of preparing them will come to have their place in the large cities, where real homes are largely a thing of the past. One of the regrettable things in connection with this new enterprise is that it is one more step toward abolishment of the home in the true sense of the word. In the cities what is called home is now little more than a boarding and lodging house for the members of thousands of families, and the same condition is gradually working its way into industrial towns of lesser size.

This elimination of the elements that constitute a real home is something to be viewed with concern. Home is not merely a house or a few rooms and three meals a day. The right kind of a home is the place where a family comes together in a relationship different from that of any other on earth; where the father and the mother and the children stand for something more than boarders and lodgers. So far as modern innovations serve to reduce them to this level the home ties are weakened, and a country in which the home ties are not strong cannot be as strong as it ought to be. It has been said that "the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world," and next in importance is the hand that prepares the meals. Every one who has ever enjoyed the comforts of a real home, no matter how humble, knows this to be true.

But conditions are changing rapidly and people must not be too hasty or harsh in their judgment of innovations. If the ready-made meal plan does not commend itself as practical and desirable it will go the way of the earth, and if after thorough trial it is found practical and desirable there is no reason why it should not have its place amid the increasing complexities of modern life.

Michigan Democrats are in favor of Henry Ford, a strong Republican, for the United States Senate, and would like to have the Republicans nominate him, thus obviating all contest. How the latter will regard the proposition remains to be seen, but the incident shows that Mr. Ford is riding high on the wave of personal popularity.

It is well that the farmers of Rockingham county should raise all they can, but the fact that any county or state does not produce all that it eats by no means proves that it is not self-supporting. Otherwise most of the eastern states and the greater part of Europe would have been bankrupt long ago.

The band that is to be organized at Freeman's Point promises to be a substantial addition to the musical organizations of Portsmouth. It will be composed of workmen employed at the plant, among whom there is some excellent talent, and its work will be of value to the community.

President Wilson makes it plain that he does not advocate the open discussion of treaties, but would have them published after their adoption. That is his "open diplomacy" platform and it will satisfy the people.

Is everybody in Portsmouth who is subject to the "work or fight" order ready for the question? The local board has received instructions for the enforcement of the order and we shall soon see what we shall see.

Late news from Rochester would indicate that New Hampshire, now so extremely busy in enforcing prohibition, might properly include shotguns in the list of things prohibited.

Wages in many of the industries are still going up. At the present rate they would soon overtake prices if the latter had not acquired the inescapable habit of keeping step.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Getting Under Cover

(From the New York World)
Emperor Charles of Austria may be an indifferent writer, but when he wrote to Ferdinand of Roumania that "this is a time when kings must stick together" he showed at least that he knew a storm signal when he saw one.

A Tired Soldier Rests

(From the New York World)
After telling of seven thousand soldiers set to death in Finnish prison camps, a correspondent at Stockholm adds that "General Mannerheim has arrived here for a few days' respite." Tired out by too much good hunting just across the Baltic way?

The Proper Spirit

(From the New Bedford Standard)
The new sugar ration is not very generous, but we ought to manage to get along with it. After all, all the food saving that has been urged upon us has imposed no hardship—simply the annoyance of having a little placed on purchases. On the whole, we are having a pretty soft time of it as regards foods.

What-Growing Experiment

(From the New York Herald)
One outcome of the war which attracts little attention but is likely to have consequences that will long outlast the return of peace is the formation by Wall Street millionaires of a corporation to grow wheat upon the Indian reservations of Montana and Wyoming.

The native of Mr. J. P. Morgan and his associates, men not accustomed to engage in agricultural enterprises, is a purely patriotic purpose, to assist the Government in its desire for greater production of wheat. It is estimated that upon these reservations there may be 300,000 acres of land suitable for wheat, and this might mean the addition of 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 of bushels to the supply of this sorely needed cereal.

Secretary Lane of the Department of the Interior is credited with originating the idea. He presented it to Mr. T. B. Campbell of North Dakota, who had been a successful scientific farmer in the Northwest, and requested him to form a company to lease the lands for a series of years and at once begin their cultivation. The outcome is the Montana Farming Corporation, with a capital stock of $2,000,000. Mr. Morgan and other well-known capitalists among the directors.

The Indians obviously could not supply the tons necessary for cultivation on a large scale, and but for the formation of the corporation the lands might not be used. Mr. Morgan admits that he and his associates know little of farming on a large scale, but they believe that Mr. Campbell will be able to overcome the many natural handicaps and make the enterprise ultimately successful. It is a novel venture for these eastern capitalists, but they are practical and successful men, and anything they undertake is likely to "go."

With the economies made possible by ample capital and with the application of scientific processes on a large scale, directed by men of brains this war-time corporation is likely not only to succeed, but to develop methods that will leave a lasting impression upon American agriculture.

Hats Off to Foch

(From the New York Times)
The latest fought battle of the war has ended in a severe German defeat. Gen. Foch has justified his appointment. When an attacking party does not realize any of its objectives, it is defeated. When in so falling it uses up great quantities of men at a time when men are of value, when it keeps a battle in circumstances where time is precious, the defeat is a disaster. The Germans spent men prodigally; they fought with eight men to the yard; they threw in probably 300,000 men; when they were repulsed in one direction they turned to another, and everywhere their attack line down and stopped with immense and terrible loss.

Foch's task was to hold them from getting their objectives; it was not to make any brilliant plays, to annihilate them by cards suddenly pulled out of his sleeve. That time may come later, but his present task is merely to electrify them. And he has done it. He has done it bloodily, at their expense. Their earlier movement did not cost them anything like the number of men this cost, and this failure is the most complete of the whole war.

Whatever the future may hold, hats off to Foch for what he has done today.

Costly Publicity

(From the Lowell Courier-Citizen)
Mr. George Creel—most, whatever else he may be, is not the most popular employee of the current administration—is pleading for the appropriation of something well over $2,000,000 for the uses of his department, which may be described as the press agency of the Government. A few selected places in the form of occasional press agenting for Woodrow Wilson, it would be a wise economy to give Mr. Creel's department, not $2,000,000 but rather the Grand Bounce. Some critics it seems it would elope be worth the $2,000,000.

to pay Mr. Creel for not doing it in view of the fact that his activities appear to keep him so perpetually apologizing. Not long ago, he recanted some words said in a moment of anger in New York—in order to assuage the perturbed spirit of a Congress, whose inner mental processes he had described delicately as a slum. The latest appears to be the recantation of some editorial articles written for a Denver newspaper seven years ago. It is said to be probable that Mr. Creel will be allotted most of his desired appropriation, if not quite all; and at any rate pending the allotment he appears to be most tractable and ready to make amends for past indiscretions—and Congress seems graciously pleased to receive these successive recantations as sufficient.

Meantime we really believe the press agency, known as the Department of Public Information, isn't worth $2,000,000 to the people of the United States. The people of the United States are being heavily taxed to support the government. They are being asked to buy unheard of quantities of bonds, stamps, etc., to enable the prosecution of the war. The burden upon them to back the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. and a score of kindred relief organizations is grievously heavy. In addition they are daily given new sets of regulations whereby they are to pinch and save this and that and the other commoditiously. Against all this there is not one word of complaint. It is done not only cheerfully, but enthusiastically. Why should not the government itself economize?

The Real Issue of the Times

(From the Pacific)
So great was the demand for Henry Watterson's editorial on the Christian religion as the only thing that can save civilization, printed in the Louisville Courier-Journal, that it was reproduced in a recent issue. In that editorial Watterson remarked: "Democracy is not a side issue. The primary issue, underlying the issue of democracy, is the religion of Christ and His Crucifixion—the bedrock of civilization, the source and reservoir of all that is worth having in the world that is, that gives promise in the world to come; not as an abstraction, but as a huddle of deeds and actions, but as a mighty force and principle of being. If the world is to be saved from destruction, it will be saved alone by the Christian religion."

Bishop Chandler of Georgia has commented on Watterson's utterance as follows: "Mr. Watterson is right. Democracy cannot be safe for the world unless it is inspired and controlled by the highest morality and the deepest spirituality. We hear much of the democratizing of the world. In truth the cry for the democratization of everything is beginning to be tiresome. It is the cult of agitators and demagogues in every department of society. Some would democratize the kingdom of heaven, elect a half-divine president, and revise by a vote of a majority the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. Multitudes of persons cannot speak on any public occasion without declaiming in a bombastic, turgid style about the 'democratization' of something. It is not just possible that many men have become obsessed with the superstitious notion that democracy is the sovereign remedy for all the ills that the human race is heir to. The truth is that in the absence of intelligence and virtue among the people a democracy is the least efficient and most dangerous form of government. While we cling to our democratic institutions, let us keep constantly in mind the fact which Mr. Watterson has so clearly pointed out—that the primary issue underlying the issue of democracy is the religion of Christ."

Bishop Chandler expresses in conclusion in his comment the judgment that a godless industrialism is the thing which today most menaces the United States.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Suspended for Six Days

Nearly fifty workmen came to grief on Monday when they were discovered in the yard lunchroom before the regular time of quitting work. Their presence there at that time resulted in a suspension from work for a period of six days.

Another Campaign

A campaign is being planned for the sale of War Thrift Stamps. Each foreman will handle the work among the men under his supervision.

On Duty in France

Thomas A. Henry, former pay clerk at the Portsmouth yard, is now located in France as a paymaster in the aviation corps.

Workmen Urged to Do Their Best

The workmen at the Charlestown navy yard were impressed with the fact, at a mass meeting on the parade ground during lunch yesterday, that they are a very important factor in the war. This impression was conveyed to them by Capt. W. A. Cameron, a Canadian officer, recently returned from France, and Dr. George V. Daniels, of Philadelphia, both of whom represented the United States Shipping Board.

Capt. Cameron told what the English Navy was doing in helping in the Kaiser's Navy, and that what was expected of the men in industrial plants was to give to their Government the best service.

Dr. Daniels asked the men to meet the boss with a pleasant smile when he asks them to work a little longer than usual. He asked them to forget for the present at least, the strict and fast rules that they have labored under during the past, and give just a little more to the Government, to whom it means so much.

Want to Be in the Race

There appears to be much rivalry among the women yeomen as to who will represent the Portsmouth yard in the races on Naval day. Four will be selected from this station but that four will be picked by an officer after all who want to go in the fray have been tested. It is a safe bet that if the Portsmouth yard send a crew the Boston damsels will have to go some with the one if they bent out the local female sailors.

135 Men and 5 Boys

One patternmaker, four laborers, two sheet metal workers, six boys, thirty shipfitters' helpers and ninety-seven general helpers were included in the call made today by the Industrial department.

Many Minor Injuries

The yard dispensary was a busy place on Monday where no less than 53 minor injury cases were treated by the medical force.

Opens Again Thursday

The hearing involving one of the yard foremen which was suspended last week will be opened again on Thursday.

Seven of Them at Work

At present the services of seven doctors are required at the yard dispensary to handle the several accidents and vaccinations.

"Shortened" by Spiders

During the dry season in Argentina a certain species of spiders weaves collects on the telephone and telegraph wires in enormous quantities. As soon as the sun sets they become soaked with dew and cause short circuits between the wires. Eleven pounds weight have been swept from four wires over a distance of six miles.—Popular Science Monthly.

Animal Languages in Captivity

The female duckbill lays two to three eggs about three-quarters of an inch long, included in strong, flexible, white shells. The young are suckled by the mother. Duckbills have been kept in the zoological gardens at Melbourne, but attempts to carry them alive to Europe and America have met with failure.

Remove Varnish

When doing over an old piece of furniture all old varnish may be quickly removed by washing with a solution of one part water glass (silicate of soda) and seven parts water. Use mixture generously, as it is cheap, and you will soon find the wood looking fresh and clean as new. When dry, stain and wax.

Careful Housekeeper

My sister was invited over to a friend's house for dinner. After she was through eating, she folded her napkin up. Her friend's little boy, seeing her fold it up, called out: "Oh, never mind, my mother irons them out before she uses them again!"—Exchange.

Had Sized Up New Playmate

Dorothy had been next door to play with a little new girl, who proved to be a strenuous playmate. Returning home, she crept softly into her mother's lap, and, closing her eyes, said, by way of explanation, "But Allen is a boy, and her mother just doesn't know it."

NEW CASTLE

Despite the disquieting rumors of U-boats lurking on the coast existing only in the lively imagination of the teller, seemingly more instant and alluring than ever will be the call to New Castle this season. All of the cottages having been taken early in the season many will stop at private cottages and to the socially fagged island town joins on the horizon as a very haven of peace and rest.

The Misses Myra and Ruth Neal of Watertown passed the week end with their grandfathers.

Miss Edna Poodle who has been the guest of Miss Turlin and family has returned to her home in Swampscott.

Sergeant Evans and bride have returned from their honeymoon passed in the south.

Miss Mattie Jones of Salem, Mass., is the guest of Elmer Watson and family.

Miss Muriel Stevens of Mattapan is visiting friends.

Mr. J. A. Young of Westworth avenue has moved his family into the Amazon cottage.

Mrs. Schunhaven is visiting her parents in Manchester.

Misses John and Harvey Frost and family after a brief visit with Mrs. Nellie A. Carl have returned to their home in Boston.

Keen interest is being manifested relative to the entertainment to be given by the pupils of the grammar school June 21st under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Chapman for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dearborn of Portsmouth are occupying the Yeaton cottage for the season.

The New Castle Red Cross is soon to move into its summer quarters, the cottage at the corner of Barrett road being loaned to them for the purpose by Mr. Ivan Melton.

Mrs. Annie Green of Lynn, Mass., and Mr. Charles Ackerman of New York city are sojourning at the Green cottage on Barrett road.

All roads lead to Pridham's Ice Cream Parlor these warm evenings where the hunk is much in evidence.

New Castle is still up to date; the Red Cross knitters are now making socks on a knitting machine which turns out a good sock in about half an hour. This machine is the first one of all to adopt the use of the knitting machine through the kindness of Miss Souter.

Miss Gertrude Robinson is passing the day at Sea Point.

Miss Mildred Yeaton and Miss Dorothy Harrison are of the graduating class of Portsmouth high school 1918.

The "Eatwell's Lunch Room" is much appreciated these days, and the pies and hot sandwiches which pass over the counter are many and not few between.

Sewing meeting in the Library on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

GOVERNMENT SALARIES FOR STENOGRAPHERS

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that through some misunderstanding an impression seems to prevail that the Government has raised the usual entrance salary for stenographers and typists in the departments at Washington, D. C., to $1,100 a year. The Commission states that there has been no change in initial salaries for positions of this kind the usual salaries, at the beginning range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year, appointments at $1,200 being in the minority. The War Department makes all appointments to such positions of not less than $1,100 a year, and agrees to promote to $1,200 a year after three months' satisfactory service. Appointments at salaries higher than $1,200 a year are rare, and the appointments must possess exceptional qualifications. There is still great need for stenographers and typists in the Government offices at Washington. Those who have had considerable office experience are most desired. The Civil Service Commission urges qualified persons to offer their services to the Government. Full information may be obtained from the representative of the Civil Service Commission at the postoffice in any city.

BETTER AS MINERS / THAN AS FIGHTERS

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger
Coal makes steam, steam makes power, power forges and turns the weapons of war. America is bled in her war programme. She cannot spend the billions she appropriates. Everywhere in lack of labor. The fuel authorities at Washington are striving to meet a deficiency in bituminous coal of 70,000,000 tons, while the blast down for lack of it. Why, then, should there be hesitancy in exempting from the draft the illiterate workers in the coal mines? Lackawanna County has mined, for example, which produces enormous stores of coal, and are short 5,000 men who have been drawn off by the draft and by labor agents from shipyards and munition plants. The shipyards and munition plants cannot run without coal. The Army in France cannot fight without the materials which coal-power fabricates into fighting tools. Robbing Peter does not pay Paul. The miners are for the most part illiterate; they can hardly understand English commands or learn the English Army regulations. They can neither read nor write. But they can work with the pick and the shovel. They are needed where they are. We should suppose that orders would immediately be issued from Washington to the local draft boards in the mining districts to make all working miners exempt by placing those within the age limit in the fifth class.

WAS NOT THE FAULT OF THE B. & M. RAILROAD

Killing of Four People at Wells Was Purely Accidental.

The public utilities commission of Maine has ruled that the Boston and Maine railroad was not to blame for the terrible accident at Wells, on May 26, when four persons were killed. The decision of the commission is as follows:

"Harry Palmer, aged 41 years, his wife, Maude, aged 42 years, and their two sons, Scott, aged 13 years, and Edson, aged 11 years, of Rochester, N. H., were injured May 26, 1918, when the automobile in which they and two other children were riding was struck by the engine of extra freight No. 1278, North Lawrence to Biddeford, Boston & Maine railroad. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer died directly after the accident and the two sons died the following day at a hospital in Biddeford.

"The accident occurred at Hendens crossing, near Wells Beach station. "The crossing whistle was sounded and the bell was ringing. When the engine was within 500 or 600 feet of the crossing the engine saw the automobile approaching some 300 or 400 feet from the crossing. It then gave a second crossing whistle. Just then the view between the automobile and the train was cut off by a barn. As the second crossing signal was completed, the engine saw the automobile come by the barn, 405 feet from the crossing. The occupants then had an unobstructed view along the railroad track 700 or 800 feet and could see the train plainly. The train then was about 200 feet from the crossing, drifting about 25 miles an hour.

"Noticing that the automobile was not slowing down, the engine gave four sharp blasts of its whistle and threw its brakes into emergency. The train consisted of 13 cars with air on 12. The automobile was going 15 to 20 miles an hour and Mr. Palmer was driving.

"The two came together on the crossing. The automobile was carried about 60 feet, and was about opposite the caboose when the train stopped.

"The engine saw that Mr. Palmer was looking at the train when he came into the clear after passing the barn, and one of the sons said directly after the accident that his father reached for the emergency brake and must have put his foot on the accelerator. Disinterested persons in the vicinity heard the crossing whistles and saw the automobile approaching in ample time for it to have been stopped if the driver had looked and managed his car skillfully. He was driving at a very reasonable rate of speed, was apparently attending to his business, and the mishap appears to have been purely accidental.

"A very careful investigation discloses no fault on the part of the train crew, and the crossing is not of such a character as to be dangerous for travelers in the highway if they are in the exercise of reasonable care."

ONLY 34 VOTES CAST IN KITTERY

Three Citizens of That Town
Seek Nominations in Maine
Primary Election

Only 34 votes were cast in the primary election at Kittery on Monday, of which 31 were cast by Republicans and the remaining 3 by Democrats.

The vote on the Republican ticket was as follows:

For U. S. Senator, Bert M. Fernald, Poland, 26.

For Governor, Carl E. Miliken, Augusta, 26.

For State Auditor, Roy L. Wardwell, Augusta, 27.

For Representative to Congress, Louis B. Goodall, Sanford, 20.

WILL HOLD FIELD
DAY, JUNE 20

Will Be the Biggest Event in the History of the Rockingham County Farmers' Association.

The Rockingham County Farmers' association expects to hold the biggest event in its history on June 20, at Applecrest farm at Hampton Falls. W. H. Farmer, who is associated with many agricultural organizations of New England, and who is a member of the New England War Council, will then entertain the Rockingham County farmers at his extensive farm.

The day's program will begin at 9 o'clock. In the forenoon, at which time the Chase, Cleveland and Ford tractors will demonstrate in the large orchards on the farm. There will be a demonstration of farm trucks suitable for Rockingham county farms. Another demonstration will consist of a spraying demonstration by Assistant County Agent D. D. Ward of the latest types of spray nozzles.

The boys and girls of the county are also a part of the Rockingham County Farmers' association and are invited to be present. The state leader, L. A. Carlisle, and Miss Mary L. Sanborn, Carlisle, and Miss Mary L. Sanborn, will state leader of the girls' club, will furnish a program for the young folks.

A poultry exhibit will be held in the form of a demonstration and talk on white diarrhoea, which is causing so much disease in the young chickens of New Hampshire. Besides the demonstration the extensive poultry plant of the farm will be open for inspection.

The ladies will be entertained by food demonstrations in charge of Mrs. Dorothy Emerson and Miss Helen Osborn, emergency food demonstration for Rockingham county.

A dairy cow judging demonstration will be given by County Agent Ray A. Deane.

An exhibit of Hereford cattle which were purchased by the association last fall will be seen as well as the newly established herd of Berkshire sows of Mr. Purpura.

At noon there will be a band concert.

ATLANTIC TAKES LEAD IN SUNSET LEAGUE

Defeat K. of C. in a Fast Game After Opening Stanza

The Atlantic took first place in the Sunset League standing on Monday evening by defeating the Knights of Columbus who lost the first game of the season. It all happened in the first inning. "Tug" Driscoll could not locate the plate and by the time he had straddled down he had given the Atlantic three runs enough to win the game in three passes, a man hit mixed up with two errors. He settled down after that and pitched a fine game, round enough to win at most any time, allowing three of his four hits in the second after he had struck out the first two men up and he retired the side on a strike out. After that he was a mystery to the Atlantic.

Both teams had new faces, the Atlantic three, including O'Brien who pitched. He is a well known college player who played one season with the York Beach team and he is a good man. He was reached for four hits two three batters but his control was good and he struck out ten men.

Driscoll did good work after the opening stanza and he had good support from Milady at third who accepted five chances and Estabrook played a good game at short.

The Atlantic greatly improved and the indications are that they will be a very fast bunch before the season is over. They are constantly adding fast men and as the plant grows they may be expected to spring some very fast men.

The attendance was the best of the season but from the collectors accounts they must be all hovering around their pocket books. It would naturally be thought that with the high wages being paid that the collections this year would be the largest ever, but just the reverse is the case. Some of those tightwad fans wouldn't release a lead ticket to see "Babe Ruth" knock out a home run.

The Atlantic practically won the game in the opening inning. Pligim walked and stole second, Silva was passed and he stole second, Murray hit to Estabrook but got away at second, Pligim scoring on the play. Silva scored on grounder that Bailey missed up, and Murray scored while Mulholland was being run down. Bailey to Milady to Estabrook, Bruce got a pass but O'Brien was thrown out by Milady.

They scored another run in the second after Stevenson and Mahoney had innued. Pligim, Silva and Swasey all singled to left and with an error of Milady, Pligim scored and Murphy fanned.

They took the lead in the fifth, Swasey being safe on Estabrook's error going to second when Swasey struck out and McCullough dropped the ball but recaptured in time to get him at first. Mulholland got a pass and Bruce's single scored Silva, but he was thrown out trying to stretch it into two bases.

The Knights scored in the opening inning on a single by Estabrook and a three base hit by Bailey after Hughes had hit to Murray, Milady struck out, and Bailey was thrown out attempting to steal home, after O'Brien had been passed.

They added two more in the second, Kenneally singled thru third and was sacrificed along by Kenneally, who reached first when O'Brien booped the ball. McCullough struck out and Driscoll hit a grounder that Bruce failed to field and Estabrook scored, Kenneally scoring when Estabrook was thrown out at first. They tied the score in the third, after Bailey had been retired, O'Brien to Murray, Milady hit for three bases and when Pligim interfered with him at third umpire Woods waived him home, O'Brien walked and reached second on a bad throw by Pligim, after he had caught Kenneally's fly and he went to third on a passed ball but Kenneally fanned. They got a man as far as second in the sixth but the next three men fanned.

ITALIANS AND BRITISH BREAK DOWN AUSTRIAN OFFENSIVE

Not alone are the Italians with the British and French comrades in arms holding in check the Austrian offensive, along the greater part of the 100 mile front from Trent to the Adriatic, but they have, turned aggressive and in some places, especially in the mountainous have taken the offensive.

Counter attacks in the hilly country at several points has resulted in the capture of all of the ground won by the Austrians in their initial drive, while there has been stiffening of the front along the Piave river rendering impossible the crossing of the stream by the enemy.

Hard fighting is still in progress with the Austrians bringing up their strongest reserves and exerting a great pressure on the northern and eastern part of the line to try and penetrate the line into the plains.

They have made heavy attacks upon the Montello plateau the highest bit of ground in the center along the Piave river, which commands the road to Treviso and to Venice. The Italians have however, inflicted heavy casualties upon the Austrians at this point.

South from St. Andrea to Fossalgate respectively the northern and southern flanks of the Zennaro loop the fight has been very violent with the Italians holding successfully the line to the river.

Between Candelo on the Zennaro loop where the Austrians crossed the Piave river on Saturday the Italians have driven them back to the banks of the stream and possible across to the other side.

The latest official report from Australian War Office claims the capture of additional ground, about San Dona di Piave and the capture of the village of the Capo Asolo on the eastern Zennaro only about twenty miles from Venice.

Thus far the Italians and British and French have captured 4,000 prisoners, while the Austrians claim the capture of 12,000 which is denied by the Italian war office.

Emperor Charles of Austria is reported to be at the front and that great bodies of troops are moving toward the Italian front.

There has been no return to the heavy fighting on the western front although there have been a number of important engagements, the French recapturing much of the ground taken between the Otso and Alsace river and taking 370 prisoners and seventy-five machine guns.

Northwest of Chateau Thierry in the Belleau woods the Germans have been treating the Americans who hold this sector to waves of gas and men, but with no success what ever the Americans repulsing every attack with heavy casualties.

American patrols east of Chateau Thierry have crossed the Marne river into the German trenches and have returned after doing great damage.

In Persia the Turks are reported to have captured Tabriz, after Telahran the largest city in Persia.

A Portland, Me. man has a room papered with Louisiana lottery tickets, which cost him $20,000, and never brought him a cent.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Portsmouth Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Portsmouth citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Clinton R. Hurd, 67 Hill St., Portsmouth says: "I suffered from sharp pains in my back, so severe at times, I was unable to get up from a chair. I was tired all the time and there was a dull ache and soreness across my joints. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Philbrick's Pharmacy, relieved me wonderfully and encouraged. I continued using them until cured of the attack."

Over Four Years Later, Mr. Hurd said: "Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to correct kidney disorders, in my case, and I always keep them on hand as a preventive. I gladly confirm my first endorsement."

PLACE OF DISMAL HISTORY

Roanoke Island Known to Fame Because It Was Site of Raleigh's Ill-Fated Colony.

Off a desolate stretch of sandy beach in North Carolina lies Roanoke Island, the birthplace of Virginia Dare, the first English child born in America.

Sir Walter Raleigh was responsible for Roanoke Island being placed on the pages of history, for in 1585 he sent out a colonizing expedition to America and fate and the rough winds of the Atlantic east the ship up on Roanoke Island. On account of the climate, the lack of food and the ubiquitous Indians the island was voted an uninhabitable by the colonists, who packed their belongings and took the next ship back to England and civilization.

But Raleigh was not discouraged. He sent out another colony, which consisted to stay, and the man in charge of the expedition returned with the glad news. Four years later, when Sir Walter Raleigh sent him to report on the progress of the colony, he found on the island no trace of settlers or settlement save the inscription "Croatina" carved on a tree. Sir Walter then gave up the Roanoke Island project as hopeless.

Roanoke Island has now been inhabited for many years, chiefly by fishermen and life-savers. The latter are brought from the coast guard station at Pea Island, which is separated from Roanoke Island by the sound. Pea Island, the only coast guard station in this country manned by negroes, is off a dangerous section of the coast. A derelict ship cast on the beach is sucked farther into the sands by each tide. The colored guardians have established an excellent record in a trying and dangerous station. Chicago Daily News.

BEEES FOR WAR MESSENGERS

Their Employment is Said to Have Gone Far Beyond the Range of Probability.

A secret long cherished in the British war department has just been discovered—the use of bees as messengers.

No longer will the aide de camp spur his staggering horse through shot and shell to carry the message to the front. Instead he will don his gloves and mask, and, going to the portable beehive back of headquarters, seize one of the faithful little insects, and send the well-trained messenger through the air.

Whoever possesses a receiving outfit can read the secrets of the wireless; one can cut the wires of the ordinary telegraph, and the pigeon does not always escape the bullet.

Therefore, other means have been sought. In America, the general staff dreams of using as a dispatch bearer—the bee.

The bee, like the carrier pigeon, guided by its marvellous instinct, returns to the hive from wherever he may be liberated. Tiny dispatches, which can be deciphered with the magnifying glass, can be attached to its breast.

But something better still has been found. By an ingenious process the wings of the tiny insect are sensitized, and by means of microscopic photography the message is imprinted thereon.

Obiterated Mattie.

"If I have to come in here again to speak to you children I shall punish you well, mind that!" warned mother angrily. "I don't want to hear another squall from either of you today." She went back to her work, and a most unhelped for silence followed.

Flung, going back to the children's room, she found Mattie, calmly playing with her dollie, but Mattie had disappeared.

"Where is little sister?" anxiously demanded mother.

"I'll explain about her," beamed Edna. "You remember you said you didn't want to hear another sound from either of us today, and I minded you nicely, but when I gave Mattie a few pokes she got ready to commence screaming again, so I pushed her into the closet and locked the door on her, and," she triumphantly added, "you couldn't hear a sound out of her now if she screamed her head off."

Too Much Soap Bad.

Many persons abuse soap by making a stiff, creamy lather in bathing, under the belief that this is necessary to dissolve dirt that fills the pores of the skin. On the contrary, Dr. Samuel Dixon, health commissioner of Pennsylvania, says very little soap is required, to break up dirt and permit water to remove foreign substances from the pores, so that glands may perform their normal function. Excessive use of soap usually fills the pores with fatty substances and results in imperfect action of the sweat glands, which is recognized as a cause of disease, especially of a respiratory nature.

Mongrels for War Work.

"The psychology of the dog in war is a subject to consider now, that the military demand for dogs is growing," said Cleveland B. Mills, of Raleigh, N. C. "Recently dogs are invaluable in trench warfare. They scent the enemy's approach, carry messages and locate the wounded. The thoroughbred dog is usually good at one or two things. The pedigreed, prize-winning dog is good to be looked upon, and not much more."

"But there is another dog, a very useful dog, and plenty of him. This is the stray dog of the street, cur by general repute and miscellaneous by breeding."

DESIRE HELP FROM JAPAN

Russia's Law-Abiding People Calling for Intervention, Says Belgian Minister at Petrograd Speaking in Tokio—Property Holders Will Rise Against Soviets.

Tokio, June 13 (Via London), June 17.—An article in Hoch entitled "Save the Russian People," by M. Deutscher, Belgian minister at Petrograd, at a meeting held in Tokio, deeply impressed his audience, by the statement: "The law-abiding elements of the Russian people earnestly desire salvation with the aid of Japan. It is reported that delegates from the property classes of Samara called on the Japanese Consul General Sato and explained the condition of affairs in Russia, saying they did not urge Japanese intervention for European Russia, but if the Japanese army advances to central Siberia the property classes of all European Russia will rise and overcome the Soviets. Failing such aid there is no other way but to invite the Germans to control the lawless Soviets. In this case Russia will become a German colony. Even should the Allies slaughter us, it will be a disaster." (Via London), June 17.

I must go to work. Think what it would mean to us, dear, if my salary were cut off. The little we have in the bank, soon would be eaten up, and then where would we be?"

This is the fear that hinders a breakdown and aggravates illness, the worry that prevents a man's mind; that nixes him even more unfit for work.

Some men long since have learned the foolishness of being haunted with such fear.

It means Safety—First, Last and All the Time.

THE PASSENGER CAR SITUATION

The government is using about 90 per cent of our annual output of steel, the balance is divided among the trade of the country. You can readily imagine that the automobile industry share is far below normal. As a matter of fact the situation is very critical and the prospective customer must realize before it is too late that in order to get a car this season he must place his order immediately.

JAPAN NEWS— PAPERS WANT INTERVENTION

Tokio, June 11, via London, June 17.—M. Kuratowa, a leading journalist and proprietor of the Yomiuri, in a signed article reviewing the war situation in the west, says he thinks the Allies may soon make a proposal for Japanese intervention. What the Japanese Government will then do is a mystery. It is waiting, but for what? Is it playing the part of a mere scarecrow? What is it thinking about? What are the Army and Navy for if they cannot be used in a crisis such as this? The Allies will propose intervention as sure as daylight. What will Marquis Terauchi do when the proposal comes?

"Japan must send promptly a number of soldiers, say half a million to one million, even two millions—as many as the country can spare must be given. We shall advance west of Irkutsk as far as the Urals and even beyond until we encounter the arch enemy. We must not be afraid of the task, for we must either win for the Allies or become subjects of Teutonic influence. We must choose now. No vacillation is to be compared with the ignominy of the other alternative."

407 SHIPS SALVAGED

London, June 17.—From January, 1915, to the end of May, 1918, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged according to details of the work of the admiralty salvage department made public today. Up to December, 1917, 260 ships were recovered. In the present year to the end of May 147 have been salvaged, this increase being due to improved methods and not to the greater activity of U-boats. Among the difficulties encountered has been the emission of poisonous gases from the rotting carcasses of sunken ships which sometimes have caused the loss of lives. One salvage ship was torpedoed while working on a wreck, while sometimes the work of weeks is destroyed by one rough sea. Feats performed by the salvage department include the raising of a large collier sunk in twelve fathoms of water and involving a dead lift of 3500 tons. Another vessel was raised fifteen fathoms by the use of compressed air.

BOY, BOOK, AND A MORAL CODE

(From the Detroit Free Press)
William Heyliger, a popular writer of boys' books, in an address before the American Bookellers' Association advanced a plausible theory, having a psychological basis, to account for the German lack of the spirit of fair play and the absence of any sentiment of chivalry. He asserted the reason for the acts which other nations regard as indefensible, like bombing hospitals and torpedoing Red Cross ships, is because they have no national spirit through which to establish ideas of square dealing and honesty in their youth. German lads are trained in gymnastic drill and a system of physical culture which will make them efficient soldiers. Having no sports, they have no juvenile books through which boys are taught standards of honor and fair play, both in school and in their sports. British and American schoolboys are taught that it is a disgrace to win by unfair means, that it is no victory unless won by the rules of the game. They despise the fellow who is "crooked" as they do the one who is "yellow." And the ideals established in the boy of today are those of the man of tomorrow who is to uphold the ideals and the honor of his country.

Honor and fair play must be developed at an early age and in a manner the boy can comprehend. He is then impressionable and imaginative. The book he reads has a direct influence upon him; he models himself, unconsciously, after the hero he admires, and absorbs his spirit. The German boy has no books of this character to mould him, he knows nothing of the meaning of honorable competition.

Mr. Heyliger may not have hit upon the sole cause of the brutality of the German soldier, but psychology will sustain his view as far as it goes. A good boys' book certainly helps largely to establish a moral code on which to frame the later life. The child fault with the average juvenile book is not that it fails to teach good sport, but that it often appears to make sport the principal thing and school rather subordinate affair, merely incident to competitive games.

DANIELS DEFENDS PADGETT

Washington, June 17.—Secretary of Navy Replies to Alan R. Hawley's Criticism of Chairman of House Naval Committee.

Daniels today came to the defence of the House Naval Committee and its chairman, Representative Padgett of Tennessee, answering a statement made by Alan R. Hawley, president of the Aero Club of America.

Mr. Hawley was quoted as saying blame for success of the German submarines off the American coast must be placed upon Mr. Padgett because he had blocked the construction of adequate coastal air-defences.

"I cannot say whether the stations are there or not there," said Mr. Daniels, "because that is military information. I can say that Mr. Padgett has cooperated with the Department in the most perfect way. Mr. Hawley has been misinformed as to Mr. Padgett's attitude."

The House Committee, the Secretary said, had never failed to act in accordance with the recommendations of the naval experts.

For any itching skin trouble, pimples, eczema, salt rheum, hives, itch, scald head, herpes, scabies, Dean's Ointment is highly recommended. 60c a box at all stores.

WHY ARE DRINKING FOUNTAINS DRY?

Altho' Portsmouth Has Gone Dry Otherwise, Visitors Feel That They Should be Allowed to Quench Thirst with Water.

Altho' Portsmouth has gone dry why is it that the drinking fountains must, too, be dry? This was the question asked by many visitors in this city yesterday. Many thirsty pedestrians, men in the service, or automobile drivers, complained that it was with difficulty drinking water could be obtained and in several instances the action of a local church was asked to get drinking water for strangers. It seems there ought to be no reason why the drinking fountains cannot be in commission that both man and beast can quench their thirst. It certainly seems far from hospitable to visitors coming to the city to have the fountains dry.

LETTER FIFTEEN WEEKS ON WAY

Soldier in France Sends One on Liner Which is Sunk, But Letter is Washed Ashore.

A letter written by a soldier in France on March 2 to his sister in a nearby Massachusetts city, was received on Saturday, fifteen weeks after it was written.

On the front of the envelope were written the words "damaged by sea water," and on the back was a Florida girl's name and address. It is thought that the letter was on a torpedoed liner, and after being washed ashore on the Florida coast, was picked up by the young lady, and re-mailed to the addressee. It is remarkable, however, that the letter remained afloat so long as to reach shore.

stereopticon views of the country and the people of Porto Rico. This talk promises to be very interesting. The public is invited.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR COMMENCEMENT

Portsmouth High School Exercises to Be Held Thursday Afternoon at Portsmouth Theatre.

The final arrangements for the Commencement exercises of the senior class of the Portsmouth high school to be held at Portsmouth Theatre Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock are being made. The class is one of the largest to be graduated, numbering 83 students. The class colors are green and white and will be conspicuous in the stage decorations. This work to be done by the Junior class.

Prof. McConaughy of Dartmouth College will be the speaker of the afternoon. Miss Emma Weston, class musician, will play the march for the class as it enters the hall. Irving Doolittle, who composed the music of the class ode, will preside at the piano when this is sung by the class.

The graduation gowns of the young women will be simply fashioned and instead of the arm bouquets used so much in past years each will carry but one red rose.

The Commencement ball will be held Thursday evening in Freeman's hall. One of its principal features will be the march of the graduates.

ASKS CUSTODY OF HER TWO DAUGHTERS

Wife of Private Edgar Hinton, Stationed at Marine Barracks at Local Navy Yard, Brings Action in Richmond Court

Mrs. Nina Hinton of Washington, D. C., wife of Private Edgar Hinton, U. S. M. C., who is stationed at the Marine Barracks at the local navy yard, on Monday started action in the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court at Richmond, Va., seeking to recover possession of her two daughters, Edna and Bessie, aged 8, who are said to have been in the custody of their grandmother, Mrs. Ella Hinton of Richmond, for the last six years.

The case went over until later, when counsel for the grandmother questioned the legal manner in which the motion was instituted. The little girls have been spending several weeks with their aunt, Mrs. J. L. Curtis of Fredericksburg, but were in court when the case came up.

THESE YOUNG LADIES ARE DOING MORE THAN THEIR BIT

The Misses Marion and Helen McIntire of Lincoln Ave. Devote Their Sundays to Playing at Y. M. C. A. Meetings.

Many Portsmouth people are giving aid in every way possible to not only "do their bit," but do their best to help the lads who are giving their services to their country. Among those who certainly deserve much praise are the Misses Marion and Helen McIntire, daughters of Wallace W. McIntire, of Lincoln avenue.

These two young women, who are able musicians, have shown their patriotic spirit from the beginning of the war. They then decided that they would do more than their "bit," but their best, and offer their services free for the Y. M. C. A. meetings for enlisted men.

For a year they have played three times at such meetings each Sunday at first furnishing music at the training camp at the navy yard, on the U. S. S. Southern and later at the Sunday afternoon meetings at the local Y. M. C. A. building and at the Y. M. C. A. huts at Fort Constitution and Stark at New Castle.

Miss Helen McIntire, as violinist, assisted Mrs. Alfred Estes, who was pianist at the Sunday afternoon services at the tent in the Y. M. C. A. garden last summer. When Mr. Estes who was Y. M. C. A. district secretary at that time, took a position elsewhere, Miss Marion McIntire took Mrs. Estes' place as pianist.

To play for three services in succession on Sunday is no small task but these young women say they look upon it as a privilege to know that they can give service in this way. As soon as the meeting at the local Y. M. C. A. is over, just before six o'clock, they leave for the forts at New Castle where with the speaker of the day for services there. They have no time to even join in the Fellowship Lunch with the others at the Y. M. C. A. as they must leave at once for New Castle for two more services and each Sunday evening have no time for supper until they return home at the conclusion of the last service.

Sunday was their last day to play at the local building for the summer as Miss Marion McIntire takes up her duties as organist at Trinity Church, York Harbor, a position she has held each summer for the past 11 years. In the fall she hopes to resume her work as pianist for the Y. M. C. A. War Work Committee at the local building.

Even now after presiding at the organ two services each Sunday at York Harbor, she is still giving her services for the two evening meetings at the Y. M. C. A. huts at the forts at New Castle and will be assisted by her sister, Miss Helen.

District Secretary Bally at the close of the Y. M. C. A. service Sunday spoke to the enlisted men of the splendid work these talented young women are doing and they were given a vote of thanks. Portsmouth is justly proud of its women who show such fine spirit.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the work on one of the new lunch rooms under construction has suddenly been held up.

MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR CITY AUDITOR

Former Railroad Clerk May Succeed Thomas H. Palmer

Charles H. Kimball, a former clerk in the office of the Portsmouth Electric railway, is said to be a candidate for the position of city auditor, which has been vacant for several weeks since the resignation of Thomas H. Palmer. In such a position Mr. Kimball should make a valuable and efficient man for the city, having had many years' experience in clerical work for the Boston and Maine.

MUST BRING VEHICLES TO A COMPLETE STOP

The city of Concord has passed an ordinance which calls for the stopping of all vehicles when electric cars are taking on or leaving off passengers.

Such an ordinance is badly needed in this city and the sooner it is passed the better for the public.

PAY OF POLICE INCREASED BY COMMISSION

Junk Badges Must Be Worn.—No Explosives for July 4.

The Police Commission met on Monday night and found considerable business on hand for action.

More Pay for Police
A petition from the officers requesting an increase of pay was received and after some discussion the board voted to advance the salary from $3.50 to $4.50 per day.

Must Wear Badges
The matter of displaying of badges by junk dealers was brought up. The board had information that the dealers were not complying with the law regarding badges and some of them were seldom seen wearing the badge.

The Chief of Police was ordered to see that every junk man displays his official badge. The second violation of this rule will result in revoking the license of the offender.

No More Licenses

Another application for a junk license was received from a party who recently became a resident of Portsmouth. The application was accompanied by a statement from one of his relatives who vouched for him and who also stated that the applicant was not physically able to perform any other work.

The commission were satisfied that Portsmouth at present had sufficient number in the junk business and the license was not granted.

No Explosives Allowed

The board will issue an order to the effect that explosives of any kind will be prohibited on July 4.

More Special Police

A half dozen special police for duty at the Atlantic Corporation, Freeman's Point, were appointed.

Made No Appointment

The appointment of a patrolman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of patrolman Murphy was laid over until the next meeting.
